UNM Ombuds/Dispute Resolution Services for Faculty provides consultation & mediation services to UNM faculty & administrators for potential or ongoing workplace conflicts. The guiding standard is resolution at the least adversarial level. Ombuds Services' long-term vision is a widespread network of trained UNM faculty committed to dialogue, constructive conflict management & conflict prevention.

Dispute Resolution Services for UNM Faculty

Workplace conflicts come in all shapes and sizes, and UNM has offices to fit these different needs.

When a UNM faculty member has a conflict, campus resources are available.

This booklet is designed to give faculty information about the UNM offices that provide services for resolving different types of conflicts.

Depending on the nature of the dispute, services may include:

- Consultation
- Mediation
- Counseling
- Facilitation
- Hearing
- Training

In this booklet, you will find information about these services and/or training for UNM faculty who are seeking assistance with a conflict.

- Academic Administrative Offices
- Ombuds/Dispute Resolution Services for Faculty
- Ombuds/Dispute Resolution Services for Staff
- Ombuds/Dispute Resolution Services for Graduate Students
- HSC Office of Professionalism
- Office of Equal Opportunity
- Counseling, Assistance, and Referral Services/EAP
- Academic Freedom and Tenure Committee

The information includes a brief description of each program's work and contact information.

Administrative Offices

There are individuals in departments, colleges, and central administration who are part of the process for assisting with faculty questions and concerns.

These include:

- Department/Division Chairpersons
- Department/Division Assistant & Associate Chairpersons
- College Deans
- College Assistant & Associate Deans
- Associate Provosts/Associate Chancellors
- Provost/Chancellor

Ombuds/Dispute Resolution Services for Faculty

The four hallmarks of Ombuds/DR services are confidentiality, neutrality, independence and informality. Faculty members at UNM occasionally experience conflict in the course of their everyday work that may involve colleagues in their department or other departments, department chairpersons, deans or other staff. Faculty conflicts that are brought to Ombudsperson for Faculty include such things as:

- Breakdowns in communication
- Contests of will or power
- Management style differences
- Perceived workload disparity
- Coalitions within a unit
- Entrenched patterns of interaction
- Philosophical differences
- Conflicts about authorship, grant administration
- Cultural, gender, generational differences

Services and mediations are voluntary and confidential.

Mediation Training: Faculty are encouraged to enroll in no-cost mediation training offered by Ombuds Services.

Ombuds/Dispute Resolution Services for Graduate Students

Ombuds/Dispute Resolution Services for Graduate Students provides consultation and mediation services to UNM graduate students. The aim is to find the least adversarial way to resolve conflicts. The graduate student ombudsperson provides graduate students with information about policies and procedures, referrals, and mediation services. We listen to concerns and assist based on UNM policies.

Our work follows the hallmarks of Ombuds practice and the principles and standards of practice established by the International Ombudsperson Association: confidentiality, impartiality, independence, and informality. We only contact other parties with the student's permission and work by using collaboration and effective ways to resolve conflicts

HSC Office of Professionalism (OoP)

The Office of Professionalism provides services to the faculty, learners, and staff of the Health Sciences Center.

The office provides assessment of team dynamics, and offers recommendations based on organizational and counseling psychology. It offers coaching for effective work interactions with team members, managers, and direct reports.

The office offers workshops, lectures and discussion groups on topics related to professionalism, professional ethics, team dynamics, understanding of “unprofessionalism” and the use of apology.

The goal of the office is to contribute to the continuing growth of the HSC culture into a more sociable and cohesive organization.
