

Microaggressions in the Workplace

“Microaggressions” are those small slights, whether intended or not, that diminish our sense of value as a person and to the organization. In discussions of microaggressions and other discordant behaviors, it is less important to emphasize the objective classification of the behavior than to understand the perceptions of the impact on the affected parties. In this discussion/workshop, we will talk about workplace microaggressions and focus on possible techniques to defuse tensions and preserve the face and dignity of all parties.

Presented by:

Margaret Menache, Ph.D.

Faculty Emerita, Family and Community Medicine
Faculty Representative, Ombuds Services for Faculty

Date: Friday, November 10th, 2017
Time: 12:15 - 1:30 PM
Location: UNM Business Center (SE Corner of Lomas and University) Room 1016
RSVP: Jean Civikly-Powell, Ombudsperson for Faculty
jcivikly@unm.edu